

You want to be relaxing in front of your cosy stove so let us help make that easy by designing your flue system for you. We're also here for help and advise throughout. You can print off this sheet and fill in the details as you walk around your home. You can also just fill the details straight into our form from a phone or tablet. The form is here.

Flue for Extension Checklist

Height from floor/hearth where the stove stands to where the flue will exit the roof _____mm

Height from floor/hearth to the roof ridge _____mm

Type of single skin flue - black enamel or stainless steel?

Length single skin flue _____mm (recommend max 1000mm)

If the flue will be less than 2300mm from your main house:

Roof pitch of the main house _____mm

Height from the hearth to where the flue passes the roof of the main house _____mm

Height from the hearth to the ridge of the main house _____mm

- -

Approximate pitch of the extension roof _____ degrees

Roofing material of extension _____

Would you like a stove too? Please tell us the make and model _____

OR

What is the flue size of the stove _____ mm

Which flue exit point on the stove will you use, top or rear? _____

What is the flue outlet height _____mm

If using the top exit: what is the distance from the centre of the outlet to the back of the stove _____mm

What gap do you want between the back of the stove and the wall behind? _____mm

Will the flue be running within 300mm of a vertical wall? _____

If the flue has to avoid an obstruction by how much does it have to move sideways _____mm

At what height does that obstruction start)? _____mm

Do the gutter or eaves of the main house protrude from the wall? By how much? _____mm

If in doubt we are here to help: 0800 246 1250